STEP-BY-STEP GUIDE

DIRECT ADMIT WISCONSIN FORM

DIRECT ADMIT WISCONSIN

Direct admissions proactively admits students into the Universities of Wisconsin based on their high school GPA and course units. Direct admissions sidesteps the typical college admission process.

Students must be enrolled at a participating Direct Admit high school to participate in the Direct Admit Wisconsin program. Direct Admit Wisconsin does not require a traditional application for admission. Students offered direct admission will need to complete a Direct Admit Form.

UWs will reach out to you with additional information about things like admission, financial aid, resources on campus, and other information to help you ultimately decide where you want to go to college.

THINGS TO KEEP IN MIND

- Students have until May 1 to express interest in the UWs that have offered them direct admission.
- The Direct Admit admission offer is to the UW university and not into a specific major/academic program. Direct entry to specific major/academic programs may require a secondary admission process. Contact the UW university or academic program for more information.
- A traditional application is required for non-participating UWs and any other UWs a student may not have received direct admission to.
